

A decidedly different dental experience.

Website strategy, page structure, design, and the kind of writing that helps people find the practice on search — for famedentistry.co.uk.

This isn't a dental website project. It's a trust architecture problem.

Four working principles drawn from the brief. Each one quietly rules out the usual private-dental approach.

i.

Three audiences, one site

Business leaders, implant patients and referring dentists — each needing different answers from the same surface.

ii.

Peer-credibility engine

"The dentists other dentists refer to" — the single most defensible claim in Scottish dentistry today.

iii.

NPS as a live brand

World's highest NPS in dentistry within three years. Not a tagline — a measured, transparent, dated programme.

iv.

Not a brochure site

Every page performs a job: capturing intent, building trust, or feeding AI search engines with structured answers.

Three audiences. One coherent site.

Different pains, different goals — answered by the same editorial register.

Every pain has an answer. The three that don't, we name.

Each pain mapped to the slide that delivers the answer. Three gaps surfaced honestly.

AUDIENCE	PAIN	HOW WE ANSWER
James Muir	Time is his scarcest resource — and dentistry usually wastes it.	PA-led enquiry. Two-hour callback. First non-clinical consultation can come to his office. PA-to-PA scheduling.	30 • Conversion Flows
	Normal dentistry costs him working time he can't afford.	Appointment lengths sized to the work, not the slot grid. One long session, not six short ones. Pick-up and drop-off to eliminate transit time. Scheduling that respects board calendars and recovery windows.	18 • Concierge
	Used to concierge-level service everywhere except dentistry.	One named clinician — never an associate. WhatsApp access. Proactive annual check-in. Service register held to standards set outside dentistry.	Open • to close
Susan Calder	Looks like every other 'implant dentist' — can't tell who's actually qualified for this.	Peer-referral Signal Bar. Named Testimonials with role, credential and dental qualifications visible. Trust signals compound.	15 • 21 • 31
	Spent weeks researching online — came away more confused, not less.	Editorial Insights / Journal — not 'Our Blog'. '7 Costly Mistakes' as the lead magnet that replaces forum hours. Clear path from the homepage pain row to a representative article.	22 • 23 Book + Insights
	Turkey is half the price — needs a reason to stay.	Pre-surgical optimisation. Continuous aftercare. One clinician from first consult to twentieth-year follow-up. The continuity low-cost destinations cannot offer.	Open • to close
REFERRING DENTIST Dr. David Kim	Burned before — referred a patient, never got them back.	Discharge note in 5 working days. Routine work returned to you. Direct clinician-to-clinician communication. Never poached.	16 • Three Doors
	No visibility between referral and discharge.	Discharge note within 5 working days, by post and email. Phase 2 referrals portal will add real-time visibility.	33 • Phases
	Won't risk his patient relationship to a competitor.	For Dentists peer-professional hub. Tone forbids retention plays. Menu refuses routine work — every referred patient comes back to you for hygiene, check-ups, and general care.	06 • 12 Tone + Structure

What each audience must feel in five seconds.

"A Morgan Stanley MD should look at the homepage and feel they're in safe hands within five seconds." — FAME BRIEF

Business Leader

MUST FEEL

"This is my kind of place."

Editorial register. Building, not faces. Restraint over claims. The site reads like something a peer would forward.

Implant Patient

MUST FEEL

"These people are actually good."

Peer-referral signal before the fold. Named credentials. Calm explanation, not promotional adjectives.

Referring Dentist

MUST FEEL

"My patient will come back to me."

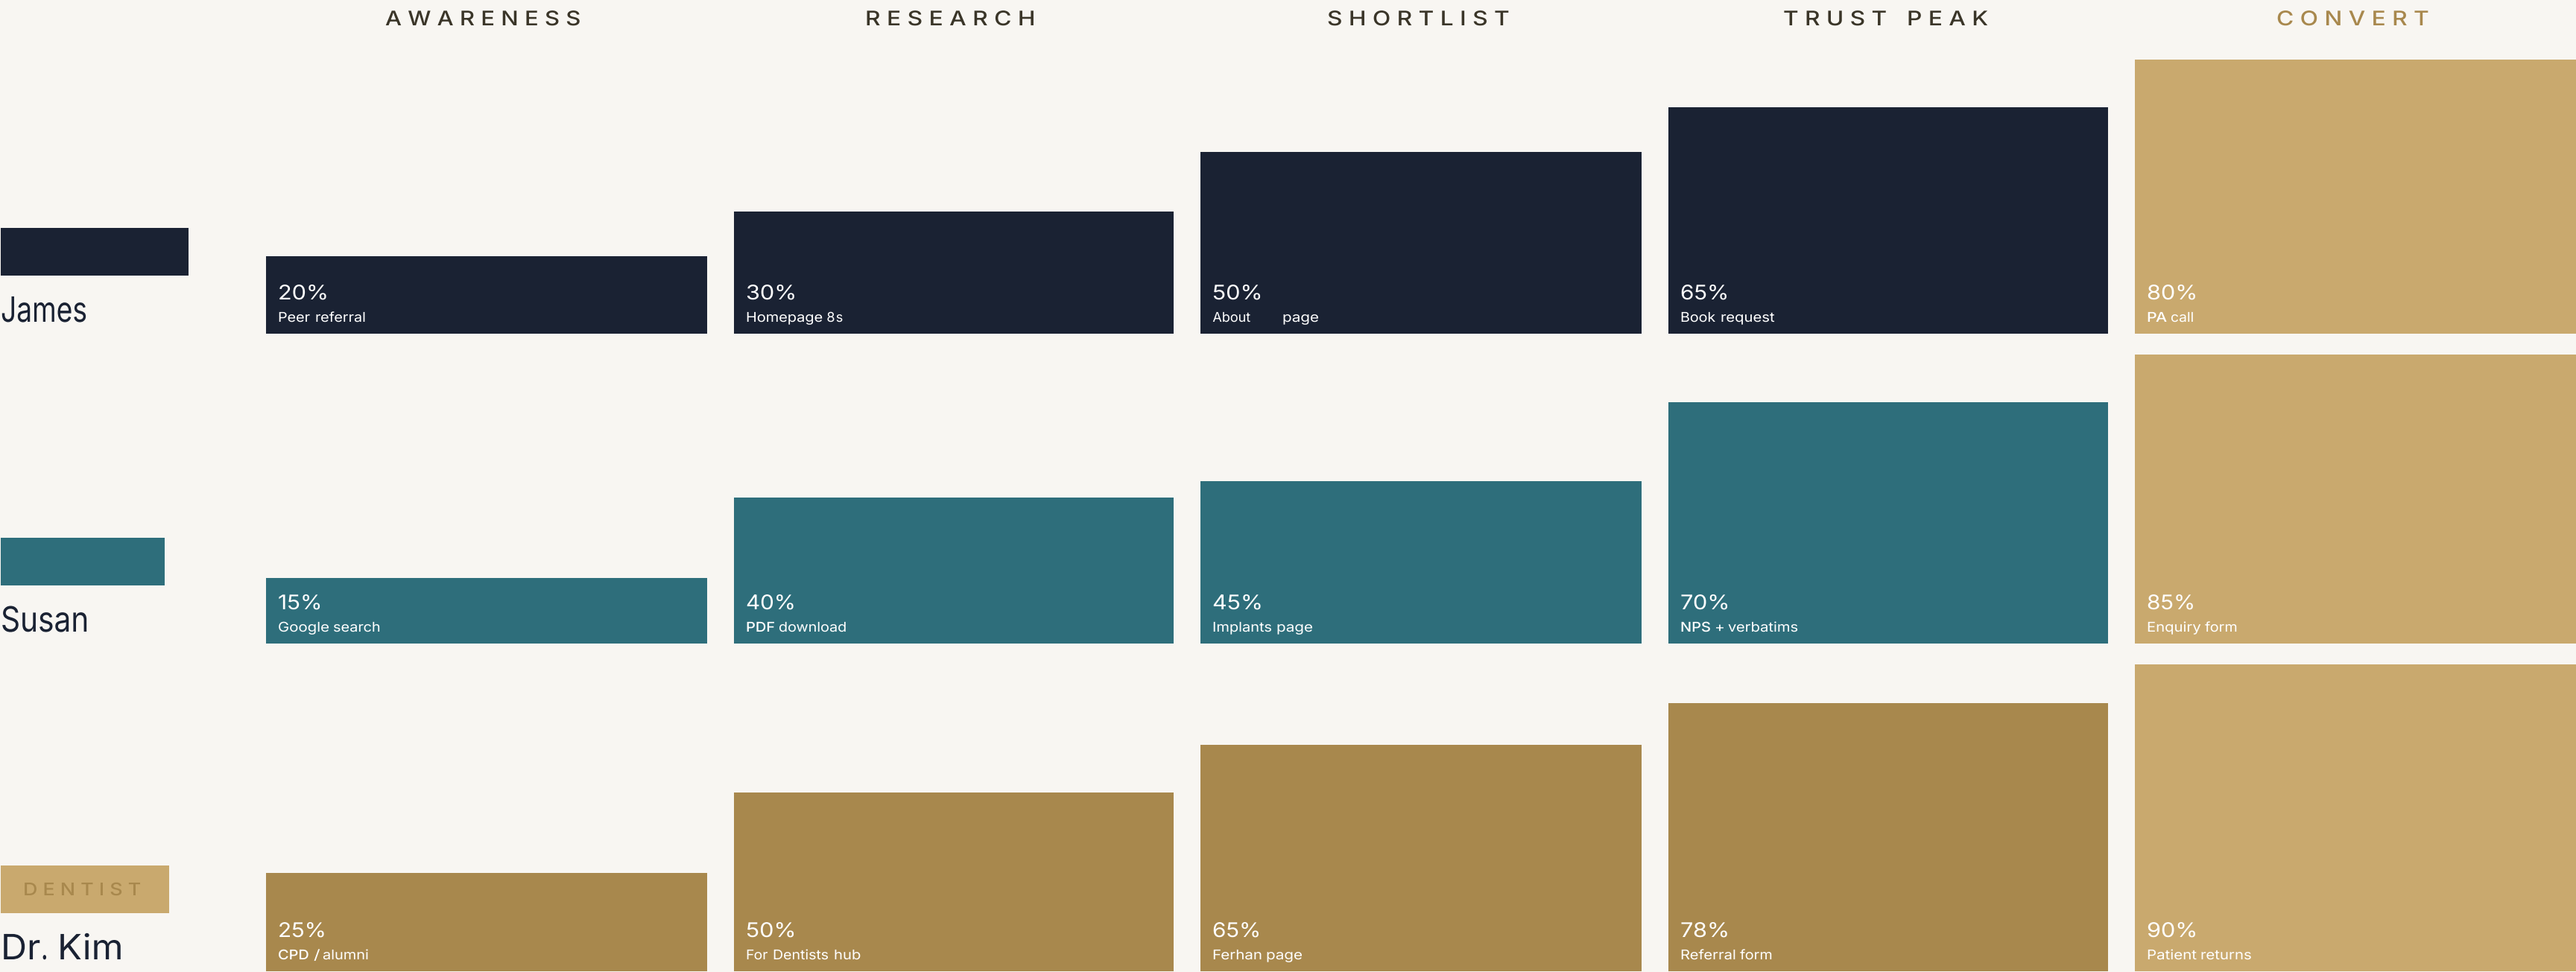

Clinical language without coldness. Visible patient-return protocol within one click of homepage.

Three audiences. Three voices, used carefully.

The site changes voice from page to page — never within a single page. The wording, the rhythm and the look adjust together.

AUDIENCE	REGISTER	SOUNDS LIKE	AVOID
CONCIERGE PAGES	Editorial, restrained, peer-to-peer. Closer to a private bank than a clinic.	USE · "Designed around the demands of your week." "A relationship, not a transaction."	AVOID · "Book your appointment today!" "Luxury dentistry experience" "Premier provider"
TREATMENT PAGES	Warm but authoritative. Explanatory. Confident enough to answer hard questions plainly.	USE · "Most of our complex implant patients are referred by other dentists." "Here is what to ask."	AVOID · "Transform your smile" "Life-changing results" "Award-winning" "Hollywood smile"
REFERRING DENTIST FOR DENTISTS HUB	Peer-professional. Technical without coldness. Respectful of the referrer's relationship with the patient.	USE · "Your patient remains your patient." "We will write to you at each stage."	AVOID · Consumer marketing language. Sales-tier framing. Anything that implies retention plays.

Five stages. Three arcs. One site to serve them all.

BAR HEIGHT SHOWS HOW CONFIDENT THE VISITOR FEELS AT THAT STAGE • THE FINAL COLUMN IS WHEN THEY ENQUIRE

Where FAME sits — and why the quadrant is empty.

WHAT OTHERS DO	WHAT FAME WILL DO
Stock smile photography & soft pastels	Editorial register, commissioned photography
12-service menu with equal weight	Four strategic services, complex cases only
A generic 'Book Now' button	Concierge enquiry → PA call within two hours
Anonymous patient testimonials	Named, credentialled business figures
One audience: local patients	Three audiences, three editorial registers
Static trust claims, no proof	Live NPS, methodology page, dated milestones

Ferhan's dual qualification opens unoccupied territory.

PRE-SURGICAL PATIENT OPTIMISATION

Medical optimisation before dental surgery.

Specific pre-surgical workup tests not commonly carried out in a dental practice, delivered by a clinician with dual medical and dental qualification.

An unoccupied positioning territory. Defensible. Performance-minded. Partnership-ready.

WHY IT MATTERS

Legitimises the tagline

'A decidedly different dental experience' becomes verifiable — patients see tests and conversations no other practice provides.

AUDIENCE RESONANCE

Performance-minded professionals

Patients who optimise their training, sleep and nutrition expect to be optimised before surgery too.

CONTENT AUTHORITY

Podcast & Insights engine

The Ferhan + Tariq podcast becomes the educational format. Articles that get found on search for questions no other dentist competes for.

STRATEGIC UPSIDE

Industry partnerships

Opens collaborative angles with medical-device firms, diagnostic providers and surgical-training companies.

Hard nos. The reflex moves we won't make.

Drawn directly from the FAME brief. Each one is the typical UK private-dental move — the discipline of avoiding them is the brand.

✗ Stock smile photography

No model teeth. No isolated mouths. Commissioned imagery only.

✗ Floating 'Book Now' CTAs

'Enquire' signals a conversation. Never a sticky bottom-right button.

✗ Live chat widgets

Unsolicited chat bubbles are friction, not service. Use a PA, not a bot.

✗ Anonymous testimonials

No 'Sarah, 52'. Named patients with role and company where consented.

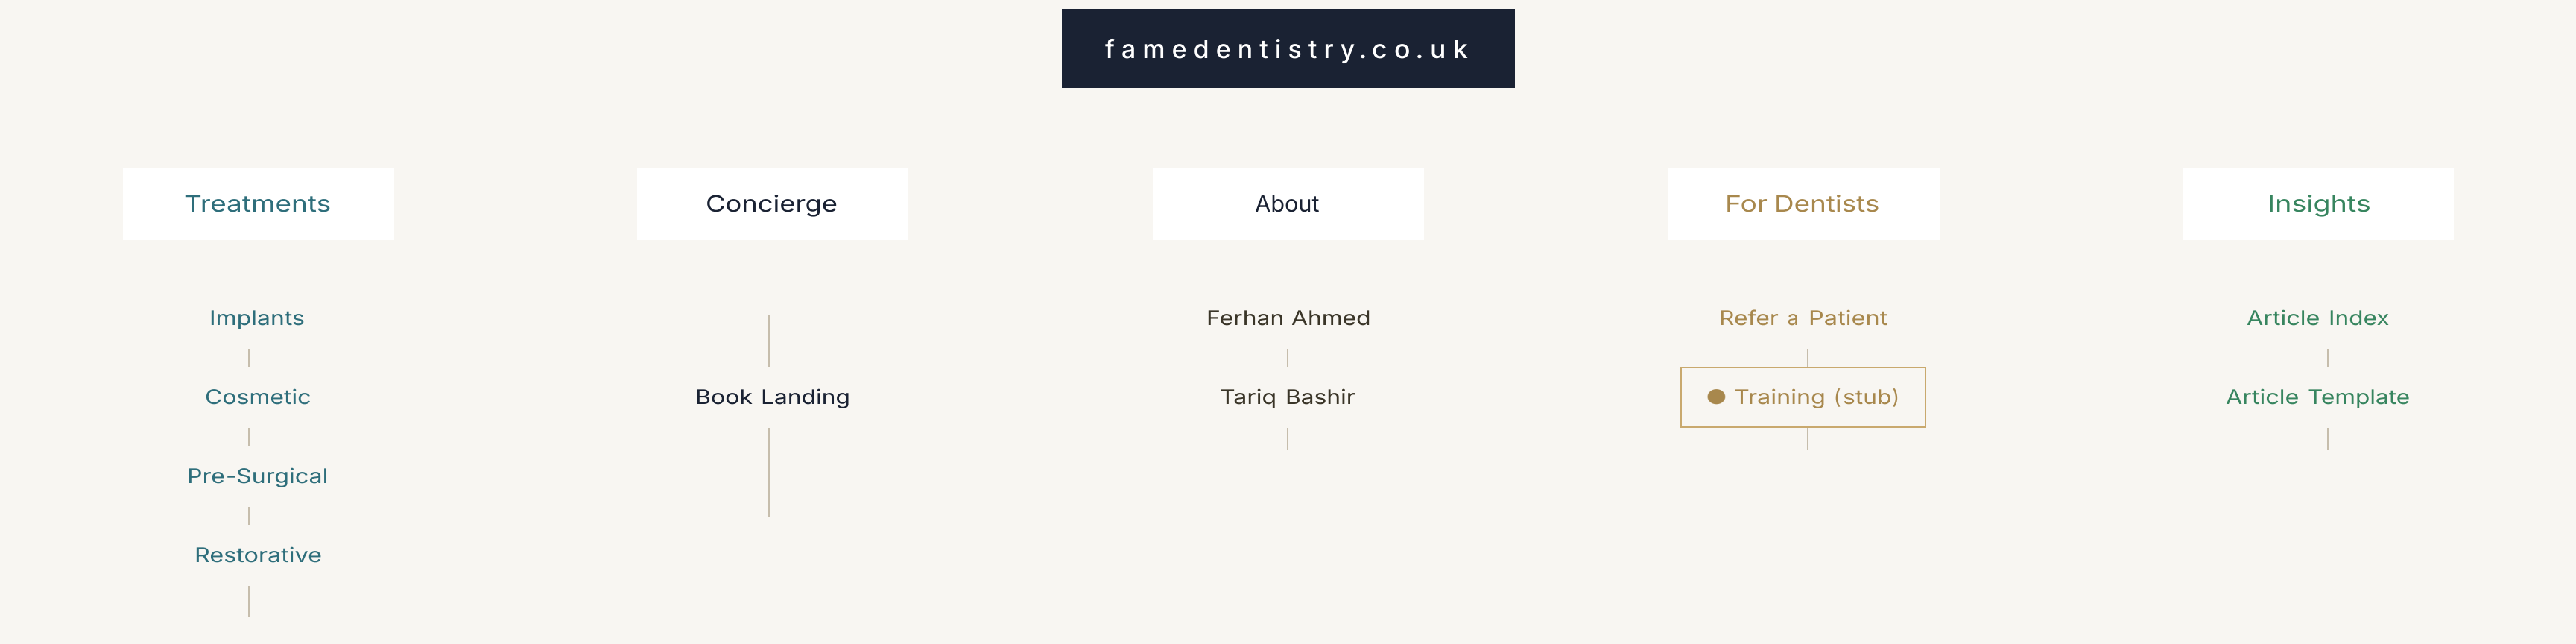

✗ Trust-badge clutter

GDC / CQC / BDA logos belong in the footer. Never in the hero band.

✗ Soft-pastel palette

No baby blues, lilacs, blush pinks. Editorial neutrals + warm gold accent.

Phase 1 page hierarchy — colour-coded by audience.

CONCIERGE GATING

Signalled at the booking page, not in the navigation — the booking flow qualifies the enquiry, so the nav stays open to all.

JOB

Convert the headline's claim into something a sceptical reader can verify in one sentence, before they scroll.

VISUAL TREATMENT

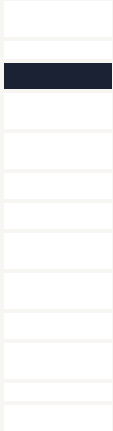

Cream surface, hairline rules top and bottom. Serif body, italic if pulled from a verbatim quote.

LOGIC

Editorial framing — not toggle buttons or 'I am a...' selectors. Three rooms in one house.

COPY POSTURE

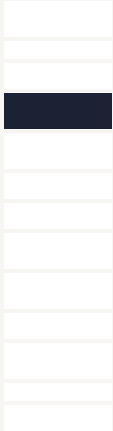

Each door speaks in its audience's register. The Manifesto's tone test applies per card.

VISUAL RHYTHM

Centre card uses cream surface to break the row. Repeats the brand's contrast pattern.

WHAT'S ABSENT

Pictograms. Persona names. Age ranges. Anything that reads as B2B form-fill.

Strategic 4 Treatments

AUDIENCE · PATIENTS

Four services. Complex cases only. The discipline of refusing a twelve-item menu is the brand.

01 Implants

Single, multi, full-arch. The volume page. Carries 'most complex cases referred by other dentists' as its proof statement.

SEARCH TARGET

02 Cosmetic

Tariq-led. Bonding, veneers, smile design. Aesthetic voice, never 'transform your smile'. Restraint over hyperbole.

SEARCH TARGET

SEARCH TARGET
restorative dentistry Glasgow

04 Pre-Surgical

Unoccupied territory. Medical optimisation before dental surgery, delivered by a clinician with dual MBChB- BDS.

SEARCH TARGET

LAYOUT POSTURE

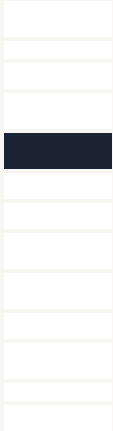

Four equal cards on desktop. No 'featured' treatment. The site doesn't sell harder on one than another.

COPY POSTURE

Plain English. One sentence each. No 'starting from' price ladders. No 'most popular' tag.

WHAT'S ABSENT

Whitening. Hygiene. Invisalign chips. Routine NHS work. Anything that dilutes the complex-cases positioning.

Concierge

AUDIENCE · BUSINESS LEADERS

The service model the practice runs on. Not a treatment in the menu.

CONCIERGE · BY INTRODUCTION

A relationship, not a transaction.

For busy executives the real cost isn't the treatment — it's the time. Concierge dentistry removes the friction entirely.

JOB

The practice’s commercial posture, not a clinical service. A CEO should read it once and understand the difference without explanation.

WHERE IT SITS

Directly after the four treatments. Reads as: here’s the clinical work, here’s how we run.

WHAT'S ABSENT

The word 'luxury'. Pricing tiers. 'VIP'. 'Membership'. Anything that reads as upsell rather than service posture.

7 Costly Mistakes PDF

First Impressions Book

Most of this audience reads us between meetings.

Business leaders and referring dentists open the site on their phone first — between meetings, in the back of a car, late in the evening. The phone view isn't an afterthought. It's the primary view.

WHY MOBILE FIRST

Most people who matter to FAME — business leaders, referring dentists — will open the site on their phone between meetings, not at a desk. So we design the phone view first, then scale up. The opposite of how most agencies still work.

BUILT FOR THUMBS, NOT CURSORS

Every button is big enough to tap accurately on a phone. No tiny icons, no fiddly menus. A CEO checking the site in the back of a car shouldn't need to zoom in.

LOADS INSTANTLY

The first impression is the loading speed. Even on poor mobile signal, the homepage appears in under two seconds. A slow site signals an unserious practice.

WHATSAPP, WHERE IT MAKES SENSE

On mobile only, the Concierge enquiry surface offers a tap-to-message option alongside the form — useful for a quick question. Never the front door, just a second route.

ALWAYS ONE TAP TO ENQUIRE

The 'Enquire' button stays visible at the top of the screen on every page, every scroll. On desktop it sits in the main nav. We never make a serious patient hunt for it.

A CALM SCROLL

One column down the page. No carousels, no sliding banners, no horizontal swipes. The reader controls the pace; the page never demands attention.

A SECOND CHANCE TO ENQUIRE

If a reader scrolls most of the way down the page without acting, a small 'Enquire' pill appears in the corner. Polite, not pushy — and dismissable.

WHAT WE LEAVE OUT

No pop-ups asking to install an app. No cookie banner blocking the first view. No buttons disguised as content. Nothing that interrupts a serious reader.

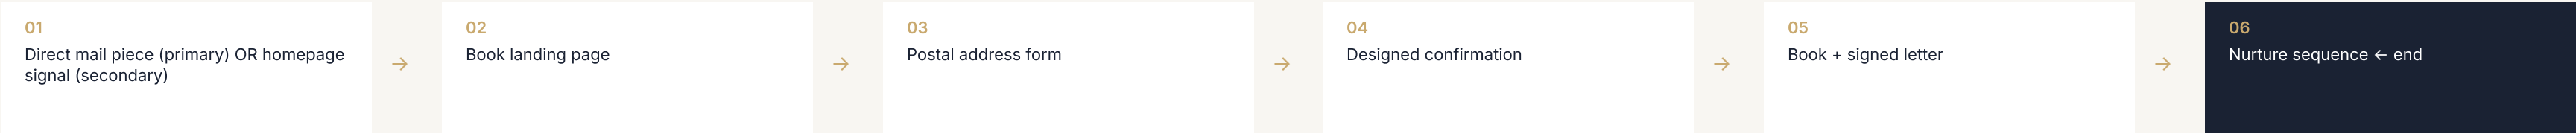

ALL FOUR CONVERSION FLOWS

Three audiences. Four flows. Three very different first impressions.

Same brand. Three doors. Each path matches the friction the audience will tolerate.

FLOW 01 — BUSINESS LEADERS · FIRST IMPRESSIONS, FINAL DECISIONS (BOOK)

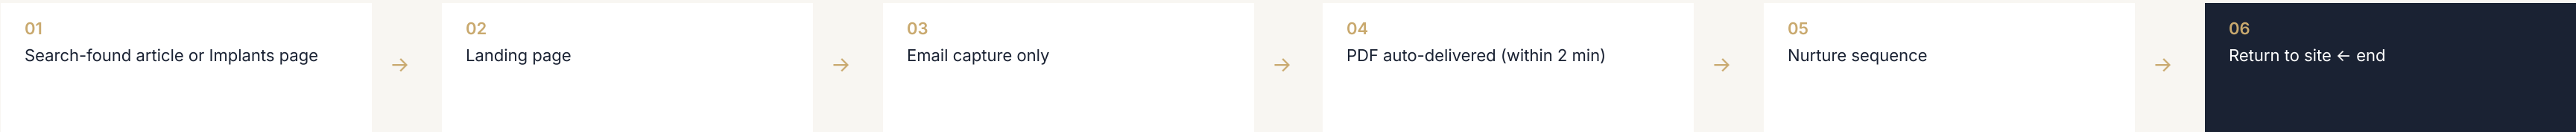

Two entry points. Long game. Signalling and trust-building. Ends in nurture, not a call — the PA call belongs in Flow 03, never in the book sequence.

GRADUATES TO FLOW 03

FLOW 02 — IMPLANT PATIENTS · SEVEN COSTLY MISTAKES

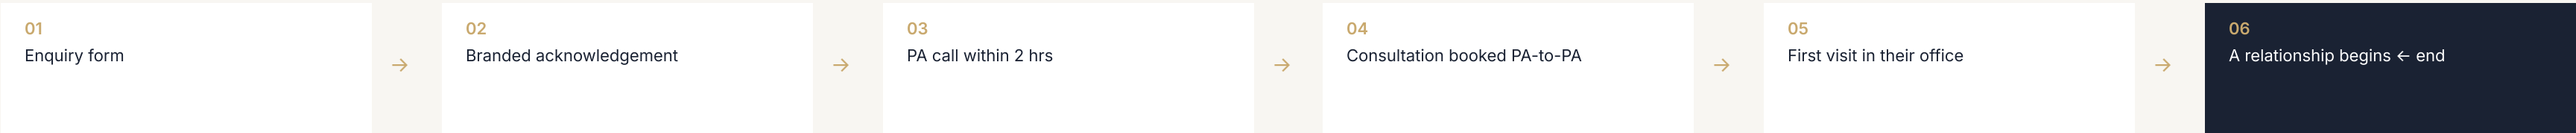

Email only — lowest friction. Each of the seven mistakes becomes a long-form article designed to be found on search, internally linked.

GRADUATES TO FLOW 03

FLOW 03 — BUSINESS LEADERS · CONCIERGE ENQUIRY

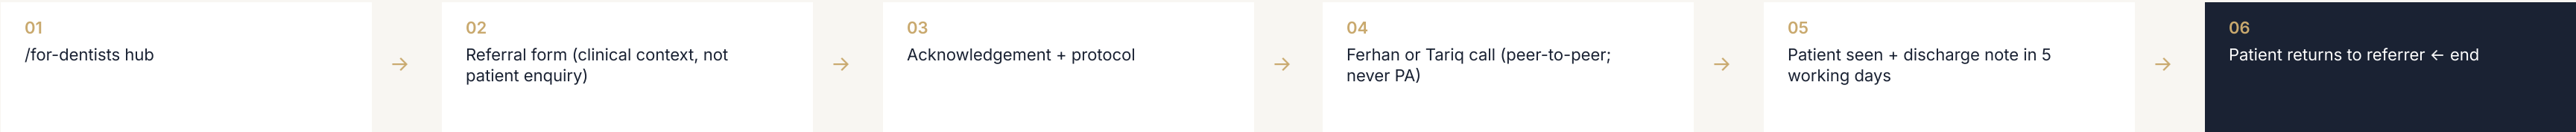

PA-led, multi-channel. Direct intent. PA call within 2 hrs. Ends in relationship — the destination flow for any qualified business leader.

END STATE

FLOW 04 — NEW · REFERRING DENTISTS · PEER-PROFESSIONAL REFERRAL

Peer-to-peer. Clinician-to-clinician call, never the PA. Ends with the patient returning to the referrer — the explicit non-poaching promise.

END STATE

The aesthetic territory.

Not dentistry — but close to the feeling.

An editorial surface — a writing engine underneath built around what people actually search for. The strongest site structure, easy to find on search, and fast to load. DTC funnel discipline applied to dentistry.

SAMPLE HERO

The dentists other dentists refer to.

STRENGTHS

Maximum content / SEO leverage. Most scalable into Phase 2 referrals + training. Best fit for the publishing-engine ambition.

NEXT STEPS

What we need to proceed — and what's already in motion.

- 01

Direction confirmed

We are proceeding with Direction 03 as the design language for the site.
- 02

Home page section & IA sign-off

Need approval on the home page section and the IA. Once locked, we will share the next 3–4 page designs — built from the same components as the interim page.
- 03

NPS mechanism

Monthly survey (Customer Thermometer) feeds a published, dated figure with methodology one click away. We need FAME to confirm who owns the monthly survey. Graduates to a live feed in Phase 2.
- 04

Photography

Awaiting the shot list; a photographer has been booked for 20 / 06.
- 05

Confirmation

We will confirm the remaining details and timeline once the above are signed off.
